Query from De Leon Import and Export Corporation

Question(s)	PAGASA BAC Answer(s)
1. As it has been quite some time since our company has participated in procurement activities of your good office, we would like to ask if it would be possible for you to consider the supply of other types of scientific and environmental monitoring instruments as experience (SLCC) instead of only meteorological instruments? Such examples of these instruments we hope you will allow are: water quality monitoring instruments and seismic monitoring instruments.	The water quality monitoring instruments and seismic monitoring instruments can't be considered as your Single Largest Completed Contract because these are not similar in nature to Assman Psychrometers, Alcohol filled Thermometers and Spare Wicks. Thus, we need a Meteorological Instruments.
2. In the Terms of Reference of the Assman Psychrometer (under Qualifications of Manufacturer and Bidder) it is stated that the manufacturer should be ISO Certified and should submit an ISO Certificate as proof. In the other two Terms of Reference however (Minimum Thermometer and Thermograph) we noticed that it says that the bidder should be ISO Certified. May we clarify if it is the manufacturer OR bidder which should be ISO certified for all three projects?	It would be better if both the manufacturer and the bidder are ISO certified. However, for this project, our requirement is for the manufacturer to be ISO Certified.

This shall form an integral part of the Bid Documents.

For guidance and information of all participating bidders.
